Question 9   20 / 20 pts

Are we alone in the universe? Explain your reasoning..

Your Answer:

Every coin has two sides. While some might argue that we are born alone in the world, I tend to believe otherwise. We are born to our parents and often times have siblings and pets. These people whom we call our family make sure that we are not alone in this world. Even though I might have some differences with my siblings or with my parents, I have a pet with whom I can convey anything I want and fortunately, she's a patient listener. Apart from family members, I have 2 extremely trustworthy friends who are there to support me in my time of need. Having said this, one might argue that my experiences of life may be different than others, agreeing to it, what I experience at school or job becomes a characteristic of who I am, but what makes it rosy is that I have people to share my hard and jolly time with.

Having been blessed with such family and friends, I don't think that we are alone in this universe.
